

APPENDIX A

Copyright Information

The New Life Ministries web site employs the "Kingdom Copyright" concept. What that means is that if material you find here is good for the Kingdom of God, you have the right to copy it for non-commercial, local church, or educational use, with some exceptions.

We do ask that you follow these guidelines:

1. If the material indicates a copyright held by someone other than New Life Ministries, especially if it indicates "All Rights Reserved," you may not publish it in any form or copy it onto your web page without the written permission of the original copyright holder. If there is a copyright by someone else but the page specifically gives permission for local church use, you may copy it for that specific use without the permission of the original copyright holder. (In that case, we have already secured that permission for you!)

2. Please always include any copyright notice on the page you are reproducing, including the information:

© Copyright 2000-2003 New Life Ministries (www.NewLifeMinistries-NLM.org). All Rights Reserved. Used by Permission.

3. You are always welcome to provide an Internet link from your web site to anything on this site.

4. If you wish to reproduce any material on this site for commercial use, please contact us at WebServant@NewLifeMinistries-NLM.org. We are usually very generous in granting permission, but we prefer to do so in advance!

5. Let us know how this material has been helpful to you. We want to join you in celebrating its usefulness.

6. And, by all means, suggest material to us that you would like to see us share with others. In so doing, you join us in making this site a learning community, and you help further the reign of God in our world.